'Peace is at hand' Excitement at Noon Thursday

War's end is even more dramatic than its beginning. The countdown began Thursday noon when Henry A. Kissinger, presidential adviser, told the world that the nine points of settlement previously announced by Hanoi were substantially correct and "Peace is at hand" in Vietnam.

War begins with angry slogans and impetuous disregard of the future, but after years of fighting and built-up tension the announcement of war's end has the greater impact.

Obviously President Nixon's visit to China had a bearing on the windup of hostilities in Vietnam. But, as you recall, it was China that extended the invitation.

Seasoned observers in Asia's No. 1 listening post, Hong Kong, have come up with a shrewd explanation of why China extended that invitation. A Los Angeles Times dispatch in Thursday's Arkansas Democrat suggests that while China wanted American troops out of Vietnam it wanted them to remain in or near Asia.

Both China and Russia backed the North Vietnamese against Saigon, but there is a blood feud between the two Communist powers, and with a million Soviet troops on her western frontier China wants the presence of American power in the far Pacific as a deterrent to Russian invasion.

That's the gist of the Los Angeles Times dispatch, and coming from old China experts in Hong Kong it can be taken as the explanation of the invitation for Nixon's journey to the Orient and the subsequent move for peace in Vietnam.

My personal guess is that, from the American point of view, if China expects to rely on our presence to ward off war with Russia then it is almost certain we will expect China to see that South Vietnam gets a fair shake as the unification of all Vietnam begins.

We had a drama all our own when the Kissinger announcement hit the AP wire Thursday noon simultaneously with the TV and radio bulletins. Caught in the dilemma every evening newspaper faces—between the necessity of going to press earlier because Autumn days grow shorter, and our obligation to publish the latest news—we had Page One already sent to the big camera and photographed.

We pulled the page back, threw out a pessimistic Saigon story, rewrote the headline, and carried more than a column on the Kissinger announcement.

It delayed our press run perhaps 30 minutes—but every newspaper person relishes the moment when he can nail Arkansas Democrat, closing out at 9 a.m. and already half way to Hope, and anticipate the Arkansas Gazette's headline on Friday morning.

But that's the essence of a home town paper—breaking late news when the time element defeats the state-wide papers.

Thursday afternoon we had the Kissinger story in the homes of Hope before Walter Cronkite came on TV at 5:30. He had the highlights—but we had the documentary, the text.

My congratulations to all our people who made a lightning switch and brought to Hope household the text which otherwise wouldn't have reached them until Friday morning.

That's what a home town paper is for.

Wood: Stacked and cut

Jack Young, above, research assistant at the Southwest Branch Experiment Station here, inspects a stack of pulpwood displayed at the forest study day here Thursday. Over 30,000 board feet of logs and pulpwood were cut from the experiment station's 25-acre woodland tract. The logs and pulpwood were cut from volunteer pine trees on the tract. Every three years personnel at the station cut the trees in a controlled cutting program. The logs are sold with proceeds from the sale going into state funds for various projects. At right, one of the visitors at the forest management study day took advantage of the opportunity to examine first hand some of the new equipment on display, and tries his ability with one of the new chain saws on the market today.

150 attend forest study day

More than 150 persons attended the forest management study day at the Southwest Branch Experiment Station in Hope Thursday.

The primary purpose of the study day was to familiarize the woodland owner with new methods of forest management, insect control, and other related phases of forestry.

Representatives from state and federal agencies along with forest industries and consulting foresters were on hand to explain to the visitors what services each has to offer the woodland owner.

Research results from various forestry projects were discussed during the morning session. The afternoon program included demonstrations and displays of machinery and chemicals used in woodland management.

Saigon, Viet Cong junior partners as war nears end

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The horse trading that hampered our Vietnam peace terms leaves little doubt that the original combatants, the Saigon government and the Viet Cong, were much the junior partners in the end.

In the course of the bargaining both sides evidently made important concessions. But the bargaining was done by representatives of the United States and North Vietnam. The pronouncements were made by them, while the Saigon regime and the Viet Cong's "Provisional Revolutionary Government" waited on the sidelines.

The Vietnam war began as a contest between a guerrilla movement dominated by Communists and a Saigon regime consolidating its hold after the 1954 ouster of France and the Geneva settlement. The guerrillas were aided by the North but for years there was no overt infiltration of northern troops. The South was assisted by the Americans, but for years only a handful of U.S. advisers was on the scene.

Now, after many years of bloodletting, the Americans and North Vietnamese emerge at peace negotiations as the main antagonists, while the others just look on.

The Americans' partner, represented by President Nguyen Van Thieu, seemed to be dragged kicking and screaming in the direction of compromise.

There is no public indication yet of how Hanoi's junior partner is taking it all. But the Viet Cong's subordinate role was indicated, for example, in the issuance of instructions from North Vietnam on when and how to expect the cease-fire.

President Nixon's chief negotiator, Henry A. Kissinger, noted that one point at issue has been whether the United States would sign the agreement for South Vietnam. He conceded that it was "understandable" that the South Vietnamese might want to sign their own peace treaty.

The Americans and North Vietnamese came a long way, even from where they were less than a year ago. Then the Americans said they would withdraw all remaining forces within six months of an agreement. Now period for total withdrawal is down to 60 days.

President Nixon vetoes 9 bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today he is vetoing nine bills—some of them major—because they would "break the budget" by about $2.75 billion during the next two years.

The fattest money bill Nixon vetoed would have appropriated $30.5 billion to finance activities of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

He complained that the measure would call for "over-spending" of $635 million. Even that sum, he said, "would still amount to pressure for higher taxes."

In a memorandum, Nixon spoke of his determination to hold federal outlays to $250 billion in the fiscal year that began July 1—a ceiling he says must be met if higher taxes are to be avoided.

"If I were to sign these measures into law," said Nixon, "I would, in effect, be making promises that could not be kept—since the funds required to finance the promised services are not available, and would not be available without the higher taxes I have promised to resist."

The President said:

"I believe that political leaders must lay the facts on the line, to talk straight to the people and to deliver on the promises they make to the people."

Some of the other vetoed bills: amendments to the Public Works and Economic Development Act, changes in the Mining and Mineral Policy Act, an airport-developments measure, a flood-control act, pay raises for deputy U.S. marshals, a veterans' health care expansion act, a rehabilitation act and national cemeteries act.

Nixon estimated the vetoed legislation would "breach the budget" by $750 million in the current bookkeeping year and by nearly $2 billion in fiscal 1974.

Farm family judged by team from state

A state judging team from Little Rock visited Thursday with the Hempstead County Farm Family of the Year — Mr. and Mrs. David Cummings and son, Keith, at Patmos.

Judging were Miss Francille Killion, cooperative extension service nutritionist; Robert Reddin of Soil Conservation Service, and Marion Fletcher, vocational agriculture. Farm families are being judged throughout the state at present and all families will meet Dec. 8, in Little Rock for the recognition and awards activity.

The Cummings were commended by the judging team for their effective operation and management.

Peace: Waiting for a signal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States waited today for a signal from Hanoi to open the last round of secret talks that Henry A. Kissinger promises could bring peace to Vietnam "in a matter of weeks, or less."

The presidential adviser, saying "peace is at hand ... an agreement is within sight," told newsmen Thursday that "what remains to be done can be settled in one more negotiating session ... lasting, I would think, no more than three or four days."

Kissinger said the North Vietnamese were asked last Sunday to set the time and place for settling the ambiguities that arose in the rush to meet a Hanoi-requested rush timetable.

North Vietnam's only immediate response was made in Paris by peace-talk delegate Xuan Thuy, who said "wait and you will see" Hanoi's reaction.

After listing the tentative agreement reached with Hanoi that would end the fighting and bring all American troops and prisoners home within 60 days of its signing, Kissinger said:

"I want to stress that what remains to be done is the smallest part of what has already been accomplished, and ... we must remember that, having come this far, we cannot fail and we will not fail over what still remains to be accomplished."

President Nixon echoed his aide's stated determination Thursday night when he told an Ashland, Ky., audience that remaining differences "can and will be worked out" so as to bring "peace with honor and not peace with surrender."

Although South Vietnam held back for the time being its definitive reaction to the Kissinger announcement, which followed by a few hours Hanoi's disclosure of the tentative accord, the United States indicated Saigon would not block a settlement.

The remaining points to be worked out with the North Vietnamese, Kissinger said, are these:

—How to establish an international supervisory panel in time to prevent "a last effort to seize as much territory as possible" before the cease-fire goes into effect and "to avoid the dangers of the loss of life, perhaps in some areas even of the massacre that may be inherent in this."

—Ways "to compress" the time between a cease-fire in Vietnam and a settlement in Laos and Cambodia.

Peace will come when Thieu signs

SAIGON AP — President Nguyen Van Thieu said today that peace will come to Vietnam "when I sign the agreement."

"Any agreements between the United States and the North Vietnamese is their affair," the South Vietnamese leader declared.

"We don't know exactly what agreements have been reached," Thieu told 1,000 city and province councilmen and National Assembly deputies who marched to the presidential palace to demonstrate support for the president.

"But one thing is true," Thieu continued. "We do not agree on anything yet. In this case, the only cease-fire that will take place will comply with our stands. I will present the agreement to you, and I will not sign any agreement in secret."

Reactions: Fear, skepticism, elation and hope

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There was elation and hope, tempered in some cases by fear or skepticism, as Americans reacted to the news that a cease-fire in Indochina appears near.

From the homes of families whose men are missing or held prisoner in North Vietnam, from campuses that saw violent antiwar demonstrations and from the man on the street the mixed reaction was common.

"You want to feel absolutely wonderful — yet you feel a sense of fear that it won't happen," said Mrs. Harold C. Shively of Spokane, Wash., whose son is a prisoner of war.

"We'll all be happy to have peace," said former first lady Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, who was visiting New York when the news broke Thursday. "It seems very tenuous, but I, like everyone else, will welcome peace."

"I want to see it happen before I breathe a sigh of relief," said Noah Shaffer, 19, a sociology student at the University of California at Berkeley. "I've heard that so often."

At Columbia University, coeds passed out antiwar literature while students sunned themselves on the library steps. "This is not the typical reaction to a war ending," said senior Tom Molony. "Even when the M's won, people were in the streets. There's no emotion left."

"I guess part of the problem is whatever chances Mr. McGovern ever had are gone. And part of it is the war was so awful you had to stop thinking about it," he said.

Robert Gage, student body president at Ohio's Kent State University where four students were shot to death by National Guards during an antiwar demonstration in 1970, said the settlement terms "could have been accepted thousands of lives ago."

Among the relatives of prisoners of war, caution seemed the keynote after years on the emotional rollercoaster of hope and disappointment.

In Montpelier, Vt., Mrs. Laurett Cook, whose husband was captured in 1964, said she had "mixed feelings." "We've had things that looked hopeful before. You build up your hopes and then get them mashed down. I want it to happen so badly."

At the Great Lakes Naval Hospital near Chicago several Vietnam veterans expressed disappointment with the terms of the proposed settlement.

Who said what about peace pact?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here are developments in the Indochina situation, following presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger's announcement on Thursday that "peace is at hand."

WASHINGTON — The United States waits for an official signal from Hanoi to open the final round of secret talks which Kissinger says could bring peace to Vietnam in a "matter of days, or less."

TOKYO — An editorial in North Vietnam's official newspaper says Hanoi rejects U.S. efforts to prolong the peace negotiations and that North Vietnam is ready to sign the "already complete peace agreement," but the editorial did not mention Kissinger and it was not clear whether it was an official response to his comments.

SAIGON — South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu said peace will only come to Vietnam "when I sign the agreement." He said the only agreement acceptable to Saigon "will comply with our stands," and he said he will not sign an agreement in secret.

PHNOM PENH — Cambodia's undersecretary of information said Phnom Penh welcomes any cease-fire proposals, including a pledge by the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong to "respect strictly the national rights of the peoples of Laos and Cambodia."

MOSCOW — The Russian news agency Tass reported today that Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin told envoys from North Vietnam and the Viet Cong that he hopes for a quick end to the fighting in Vietnam.

SAIGON — The war raged on today with the highest number of Communist attacks since the 1966 Tet offensive and continued but limited U.S. bombing strikes against targets in North Vietnam.

FULBRIGHT

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., longtime Vietnam war critic, said Thursday he was "very elated" about the prospects of peace in Vietnam.

After examining news service dispatches and television transcripts of Henry Kissinger's statements on peace developments, Fulbright said the only question in his mind was "what have we gotten in this agreement that we couldn't have gotten four years ago."

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he believed the United States had gone too far toward agreement to permit a continuation of the war, but he said South Vietnamese President Thieu "could be troublesome" and possibly disrupt the agreement.

"I don't believe that we could allow that to happen," the senator said. "God knows it ought to be gone through with. I'm very pleased indeed."

Fulbright said that he could see an end to the war "in the very positive way" that Kissinger discussed points agreed upon so far.

He asked "What have we gained by fighting four more years," since President Nixon took office, but added, "this should have been done. I'm very elated and I don't want to complain about it."

CONNALLY

FORT WORTH Tex. AP — John Connally, once President Nixon's Treasury secretary and now his chief campaigner among Democrats, says Hanoi has dictated the timing of peace developments.

Connally commented Thursday at a news conference on administration statements that a Vietnam peace settlement is near, saying "I'm delighted at the prospects of peace."

The former Texas governor, who spoke later at a meeting of the Dallas and Fort Worth chapters of Democrats, said he doesn't think "this was timed" to effect the Nixon-McGovern balloting.

"The timing has been in the hands of Hanoi," said Connally, who took a multi-nation tour for President Nixon following his resignation from the cabinet.

"They have been the ones to dictate the timetable and obviously they feel the time is right for peace at this point," Connally said.

"The position of the United States has been clear since the outset... The position of President Nixon has been clear and Dr. Kissinger's positions have been clear," he said.

Connally also said he feels the statements Thursday by presidential adviser Henry Kissinger would not have a serious effect on the campaign of Nixon against Democratic nominee George McGovern.

He said, however, there might be some "slight" positive effect for Nixon.

"The average American believes that President Nixon has done everything in his power to end the war in Vietnam, but to do it with honor," Connally told newsmen.

SCHMITZ

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — The American party's candidate for the presidency has called the impending peace in Vietnam a "stab in the back for our allies."

Rep. John D. Schmitz, R-Calif., said the announcement that peace could be near was "a sellout and surrender."

"President Kissinger's revelations today continue our sellout in Southeast Asia," Schmitz said. "Any such revelation one week before the election is tailored more toward the election than toward peace. If that's peace at all, it's peace of the grave," he said.

WALDHEIM

BALTIMORE (AP) — United Nations Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim says any political settlement in Vietnam should take rebuilding into account.

Waldheim told a Johns Hopkins University audience Thursday that Vietnam peace negotiations have reached a "crucial point" and "a cease fire seems imminent." He said he received a full briefing from U.S. officials.

"It would indeed be timely to direct our attention to the needs and requirements the present areas of conflict will face once these conflicts will be terminated," Waldheim said.

Peace pact --

These are easily settled, Kissinger said, even though it likely will take a settlement pact the Oct. 31 deadline set by Hanoi, the North Vietnamese "certainly must know now that peace is within reach in a matter of weeks, or less, depending on when the next secret session is held."

In essence, the major points already settled as first announced by Hanoi and de-

Saigon --

The North Vietnamese had insisted on unconditional U.S. withdrawal of all men and materiel and disarmament of all bases. Nothing is said about materiel and bases in the terms broadcast by Hanoi. The Viet Cong is unlikely to welcome the loss of all that hardware remaining in the hands of South Vietnam's multi-national army and police forces.

Since the beginning of peace talks in Paris, Hanoi had demanded that President Thieu be dumped. It repeated this demand as recently as Sept. 27 in an article in Hoi Tap, the official party magazine. That article called for an interim regime to arrange elections with the Saigon regime included except for the notorious traitor Thieu. Now it is willing to let Thieu head one of the three segments.

Search enters 10th day

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A single Coast Guard search plane pined the darkness today in the 10th day of a hunt for missing House Majority Leader Hale Boggs, scanning for the source of a faint radio signal coming from a glacier area north of here.

Authorities described the signal, heard briefly twice in the last two days, as a "very long chance, but one of the few leads we have at this time."

Portrait of Thieu

SAIGON (AP) — The personality of President Nguyen Van Thieu, the man in the middle of the peace negotiations between Washington and Hanoi, is as much a mystery as his future. He has built his career on caution, not charisma.

Opponents call him ruthless; supporters selfless. The intimate facts are known to very few.

Thieu's face, round and bland as a mufin, tells nothing. It is a perfect reflection of his style.

Never a dramatic leader, Thieu has been content to leave the flair to such figures as his swashbuckling ex-vice president, Nguyen Cao Ky.

The president's pastimes are said to be fishing and watching war movies and wrestling matches on the American Forces television network.

In recent years he has isolated himself more and more within a close circle of advisers — some of them relatives — who disclose nothing of his state of mind. He has met on occasion with a Western reporter when it served his purpose but has held no formal news conference in more than two years.

Thieu's informal two-hour speech to his people Tuesday, crackling with slang denunciations of the Communists, recalled the president of earlier days who carried a small camera and delighted in snapping pictures of photographers snapping him.

Some veteran observers maintain that Thieu is capable of personal magnetism and that he should exercise it more often in the interests of tying together this nation of fragmented sects and factions. But he has shown no tendency toward that.

Born 49 years ago in a fishing village on South Vietnam's south-central coast, Thieu was the youngest of three sons. He progressed in youngest-son obscurity until 1963 when, by then a colonel, he took part in the coup that overthrew President Ngo Dinh Diem.

His reputation up to that time was one of never making a move until sure of winning. Characteristically, he did not send his troops against Diem's presidential guard until other commanders had struck.

Subsequently he kept one of the lowest profiles among Saigon's military leaders, quietly gathering support for the showdown when he beat out Ky and was named military candidate for president in 1967.

On two points, no one accuses Thieu of sacrificing principle to expediency: nationalism and anti-Communism.

At 23, Thieu spurned a job in the French merchant marine when he learned he would be paid less than French officers in the same position.

He joined the Anti-French Viet Minh as a young man but quit because the Communists dominated it. Since then his stand has been adamantly anti-Communist.

Says U.S. hedging on negotiations

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam said today it rejected U.S. efforts to "prolong the negotiations." It said Washington must "bear full responsibility for the fact that the already complete peace agreement has not been signed and the war is dragging on in Vietnam."

It said all conditions of an agreement to end the war have been agreed to and Hanoi is ready to sign the accord with the United States.

The North Vietnamese statement, an editorial in the official newspaper Nhan Dan, was broadcast some hours after presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger told a Washington news conference that "peace is at hand" and only one more negotiating session of three or four days was needed. The editorial did not mention Kissinger.

Echoing the government statement broadcast by Hanoi Radio Thursday, Nhan Dan said the difficulties the United States indicated it had encountered with the government of President Nguyen Van Thieu "are only an artificial pretext, a maneuver to cover the bad faith of this Nixon administration with regard to what they have agreed upon and committed itself to implement."

It said that the Nixon administration "ordered its henchman Nguyen Van Thieu to make extremely arrogant declarations, opposing the points included in the agreement already agreed upon by the Democratic Republic of Vietnam and the government of the United States."

Stitchin' time

Wear politics on your skirt

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

Election Day is almost here — and you haven't a thing to wear?

Quick—take time out from ringing doorbells and licking stamps to whip up a jiffy felt skirt, with your party symbol applied in contrasting felt.

Here's where you use all the quick-and-easy sewing tricks you know. Cut your A-line skirt in two sections, with two darts in each section. Put a zipper in the side seam. Cut a matching waistband, and back it with grosgrain ribbon, fused in place. Use scalloping shears to make a fast and fancy finish for waistband and hem.

The dancing elephants and thoughtful donkey are designed by the Wiss Fashion Department, so you can transfer your loyalties to your new party skirt. Mark wrapping paper off in one-inch squares, and transfer the design to make a pattern. Lay a piece of fusible web such as Stitch Witchery between the felt and the pattern, and cut out the motifs. Reverse the pattern to make two donkeys. Then use your iron to bond the applique firmly to the skirt.

The skirts shown are made of red felt with blue appliques and white turtleneck shirts.

Whichever design you choose, be sure you cast your vote where it counts on Election Day — in a voting booth, as a registered voter.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

The 18-year-old vote goes to felt party skirts, appliqued with party motifs.

History and food have a close relationship. Currently the United States is resolving the major election upheaval that comes every four years. We're soon into the Thanksgiving period which commemorates activities of our earliest settlers... and over the horizon is the country's bicentennial. What is more fitting for such times than a recipe adapted from one savored by this country's first president — George Washington.

MARTHA WASHINGTON'S CHICKEN PIE

- 1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in serving pieces
- 2 cups water
- 2 teaspoons salt, divided
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 2 ribs celery with leaves
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1/4 cup currants

- 3 tablespoons chopped candied citron
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
- Pastry for one-crust 9-inch pie
- 1 egg, lightly beaten

Place chicken in large saucepan. Add water, 1 teaspoon salt, onion, celery and bay leaf. Bring to a boil; cover tightly. Reduce heat and simmer 1 hour, or until tender. Remove chicken pieces. Strain broth. Remove skin and bones from chicken; cut meat into chunks. Heat butter in saucepan. Add onion and cook until tender.

Blend in flour, remaining 1 teaspoon salt and pepper. Stir to a smooth paste. Gradually stir in chicken broth. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Remove from heat; stir in lemon juice, currants, citron and sliced eggs. Turn into greased 1 1/2-quart casserole. Top with pastry. Brush pastry with beaten egg. Cut three slashes for steam vent. Bake in 425-degree oven for 20 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Helen Help Us!

—by Helen Bottel—

Navy: Home Away from Home?

DEAR HELEN: Will you please give Navy wives a little space before all their marriages go down the drain?

A recent news release stated Navy admirals were wringing their hands over "the deterioration of American seapower." They plan to "strengthen" it by equipping officers' staterooms with carpets, planter boxes, audio units, dimmer switches, air conditioning and "other comforts suited to the social, physical and psychological needs of personnel."

The plan also calls for crews' quarters to get quite similar luxuries, and enlisted men will have sharp new uniforms, longer hair, etc.

It all sounds real cozy—like honeymoon ships—and, in reality, aren't they getting ready for women sailors? (What gets to me is those dimmer switches!)

Really, Helen, it is another assault on our homes. Taxpayers are being asked to provide luxuries so that fighting ships can become floating loveboats! Navy wives, unite and tell the President he can't "bring us together" by temptations which will pull man and wife apart!—NAVY WIVES OF SAN ANTONIO

DEAR WIVES: Perhaps you should write, "Dear Mr. President: A girl in every port was bad enough; a girl on every ship?—Never!"

But somehow I think a trustworthy husband can withstand women sailors—even if his stateroom is equipped with a dimmer switch.—H.

DEAR HELEN: My neighbor on the right told me all about this woman who lives on my left. She says the man she is living with isn't really her husband, and her children are all by different men.

She says she fixes herself up every morning like a model so she can entertain whatever repairman comes along. And just watch: salesmen stay longer there. I haven't met her yet, but—

What do you think of a woman like this?—NEW NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEW: I think she's a gossip.

The woman on your left? Why don't you keep an open mind until you meet her and find out for yourself?—H.

DEAR HELEN: This is for the man who complained that doctors' answering services put you on "hold" before you can say "emergency." He suggests the operator ask each caller if the call is urgent, before making him wait.

He doesn't know people too well. As an operator for such a service, I can tell him: everyone thinks his call is an emergency. We have over 800 phones to answer. You can see the problems we would run into if we asked such a question.

Besides rudeness, I am amazed at the lack of common sense most people display in calling a doctor. At 3:00 a.m. they'll consider a sore throat or even "an unhappy turtle" an "emergency."

In case of a real time problem, it's foolish to waste precious seconds calling a doctor's answering service—or even his office nurse. The rescue squad should be alerted first, so the ill person can receive emergency treatment while being rushed to the hospital. Everyone should have the number of the nearest rescue squad printed near his phone.—CONCERNED OPERATOR NO. 4.

DEAR MS. BOTTEL: Your correspondent's remarks on doctors' telephone answering services come at a propitious time as we are starting to work on some practice management training material which will include the subject of "telephone answering."

The telephone is one of the doctor's biggest problems. It is reported that the average general practice office receives 65 calls per day. This does not excuse negligence...but it may provide some measure of sympathy for the very busy doctor who is trying to see as many patients as he can.—M. L. H., A MERICAN MEDICAL ASSN.

ASTRO-GRAPH

BY BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Friday, Oct. 27

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY

Don't live too far into the future. Your short-range plans offer the real opportunities. Beware of involvements with individuals whose ideas are too radical.

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr 19): There may be problems getting others to see things your way. If written agreements are required, read them carefully.

TAURUS (Apr 20-May 20): If you want something done properly, do it your self. This will prevent you from becoming annoyed at others.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): There's a strong tendency to spend too much money on pleasure. Speculative ventures lead to overextension.

CANCER (June 21-July 21): Your temper is likely to have a short fuse and a slight spark could set it off. Visit someone away from home.

LEO (July 23-Aug 22): You could forget your shopping list or lock the keys in the car. Replace carelessness with care and caution.

VIRGO (Aug 23-Sept 22): Fretting over finances causes unnecessary emotional upsets. Things will get better. Treat yourself to something nice.

LIBRA (Sept 23-Oct 23): Money matters are more stable than your temperament. You can get a little miffed if you feel unappreciated.

SCORPIO (Oct 24-Nov 22): In spite of those who do not have your best interest at heart, your aims prevail. Luck has a hand in this.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23-Dec 21): An acquaintance of yours may treat you rudely. Maybe it's because Dame Fortune is treating you kindly.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 19): Someone important is in your corner. Keep it to yourself, so it doesn't jeopardize your other arrangements.

AQUARIUS (Jan 20-Feb 19): Don't be too anxious to change your routine. Things are working better than you think.

PISCES (Feb 20-Mar 20): A friendship is reinforced. This is not of a romantic nature, because affairs of the heart could be a little erratic today.

Chapter AE, PEO has anniversary tea

On Tuesday, October 24, Chapter AE of PEO met in the home of Mrs. Franklin McLarty. There were 21 members and one former member, Mrs. Roy Bagley of Camden, present.

Following the routine business meeting, a silver anniversary tea commemorating the organization of Chapter AE was enjoyed by the local chapter members and their guests, members from PEO chapters from Ashdown, Arkadelphia and Benton.

Arrangements of margarites and chrysanthemums were seen throughout the home. One of the floral arrangements came as a congratulatory greeting from Miss Beryl Henry, a charter member of Chapter AE, who was unable to attend the tea. Mrs. McLarty greeted the guests at the door, and Mrs. Ray Lawrence invited them into the dining room, where Mrs. Mack McLarty and Mrs. Harold Stephens presided at the punch bowl and the coffee service.

The serving table was covered with a white linen cloth bordered in lace. Flanking the flowers on the table were silver candelabras holding lighted yellow tapers. Punch, coffee, dainty sandwiches, cookies, and mints were served to 45 guests and members.

Potluck supper to honor new members

The First United Methodist Church will have a family potluck supper in the Fellowship Hall of the Church on Sunday, Oct. 29, at 7 p.m. This supper will take the place of regular Sunday evening services. The occasion will recognize and honor all members of the church who have joined during the past year.

The meat and drinks for the meal will be furnished. Members are asked to bring a salad, vegetable or dessert.

NTSU-Hogs predictions

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — North Texas State has not beaten Arkansas in six tries. Even though the Razorbacks may be "down" Saturday night there's no reason to believe this will be the year the Mean Green breaks through.

North Texas is 0-6 for the season and came to the closest to winning last week, dropping a 7-6 decision to Memphis State. In that one, the Eagles had one touchdown called back because of a penalty and missed two field goals.

"We showed improvement last week but we still had breakdowns in our offensive execution at the wrong times," said NTS Coach Rod Rust. "Defensively, it was one of our better efforts."

Arkansas whipped North Texas last year 60-21, although the Razorbacks led only 34-21 at the half.

The closest the Eagles came against the Razorbacks was in 1968, losing 17-15. That was the team that featured quarterback Steve Ramsey, defensive tackle Joe Greene and wide receiver Ron Shanklin—all standouts in the pros.

Arkansas led Texas 9-7 last week at the half, but broke down in the second half—missing tackles, failing to execute offensively and committing killing errors in the kicking game.

Arkansas will attempt to rest some of its injured this week and several players will be starting for the first time this year. In fact, senior Jim Benton, junior Ed Rownd and sophomore Bill Burns are expected to be the starting linebackers instead of Danny Rhodes, John Wheat and Scott Binion.

Rhodes injured his knee last week. Wheat broke his thumb against Baylor and Binion injured his knee against Tulsa.

The Eagles' Rick Shaw threw for three touchdown passes in the first half against the Razorbacks last year, but Rust says Shaw's passing has been erratic this year and he may start Phil Shotland. Shotland has been injured much of the year, but looked good in a brief appearance against Memphis State last week.

Arkansas should win on class alone.

Bobcats: Pride & determination

By RICKY FAWCETT
 Star Sports Writer

Pride and determination are two important ingredients in playing football. The Hope Bobcats will be showing both of these in tonight's battle with the Camden Panthers.

The pride will carry over from the Bobcat's six wins this year while the determination comes from the last two years.

For the past two years Hope has played Arkadelphia and Magnolia on Homecoming. Both of these teams went on to win district titles. This year there is no title pressure, only pride at stake.

Melvin Weston, David Huddleston, Ricky Hart, and Robbie Boyd will all play their usual good game as will the defense. This brings up a question, where is David Johnson?

Johnson, the leading ground gainer for the Cats this year, was injured last week in Magnolia. It is not known if he will see action tonight.

Even without Johnson, the Hope offense and defense will shine as I predict a Bobcat victory, 28 to 7.

Bobkittens face defeat

By RICKY FAWCETT
 Star Sports Writer

Rain, cold, and defeat faced the Hope Bobkittens last night at Cardinal Stadium in Camden. Camden Fairview cashed in on an early break and held on to crush the Bobkittens title hope, 8-0.

Fairview got that break on an early fumble. Moving 20 yards in six plays, Fairview scored on a four yard run by Rodney Franklin with 2:41 left in the first quarter. The PAT missed as Fairview led 6-0.

As the rain fell harder, both teams stuck to a sustained running attack. This was the pattern of the whole game. The Bobkitten defense held off a late drive by Fairview. With 19 seconds left in the game, Hope recovered a fumble at the Kitten 2. The next play quarterback Mark Harris was dropped in the endzone, giving Fairview two points for a safety. The score then read Fairview 8, Hope 0.

The loss made Hope's final record five wins and three losses. The Bobkitten defense was tough every game while the passing game sparkled.

Throughout the year, win or loss, the Kittens were backed 100 per cent by their cheerleaders, pep squad, and fans who took it upon themselves to support their team.

NCAA withdraws from Olympic committee

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association has withdrawn from the United States Olympic Committee, charging that the USOC has "shortchanged America."

Complete reorganization of the USOC was demanded by the NCAA in its announcement, made Thursday by Charles Neinas, chairman of the NCAA International Relations Committee, and Samuel E. Barnes, NCAA secretary-treasurer.

The NCAA's 18-member Council made the decision at its fall meeting in Knoxville, Tenn.

"The NCAA strongly supports continuation of the Olympic Games," Barnes said in a statement. Reorganization has been sought for almost 10 years, he said, and the council has "told our delegates to continue to strive for reorganization from within."

"Not this time. We have had enough."

The NCAA is recommending that its 700 member schools not help raise money for the USOC, and not appoint people to USOC committees.

"This action should not be construed as recommending the United States withdraw from the Olympic Games themselves," Neinas said, adding that the International Relations Committee hopes for improvement in the games.

Since Congress gave USOC its charter and funded it, the NCAA hopes Congress will take a good look at it.

Describing the USOC as self-serving, Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, said "I don't think it can be reorganized internally. It's a classic case of inbreeding. The only external force with enough clout to bring it about is ... Congress."

"The troubles in Munich at the '72 games are only the latest example of the continuous, countless bunglings of the USOC," Barnes said. He was in Munich during the games.

"We feel we can do more for the student-athletes within the United States Collegiate Sports Council and the World University Games than through the USOC," Barnes said.

TCU-Notre Dame square off Saturday

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — It'll be a pair of 4-1 teams squaring off here Saturday afternoon and that should be quite a boost for visiting Texas Christian.

The Horned Frogs were pretty certain that when they reached South Bend it would be to meet an undefeated Notre Dame team ranked somewhere in the top 10.

But underhanded Missouri took care of that notion last Saturday by shocking the Irish 30-26 and topping from eighth place in the ratings to 13th.

The aura of Irish invincibility is gone, at least for the time being, and TCU, coming off a 13-10 last-minute victory over Texas A&M, will be seeking its fifth consecutive road victory.

Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian said, "I don't think anything is easy after a loss, particularly after a game like we played against Missouri. It seemed like we did everything wrong and they did everything right."

"TCU is a winning football team. You look at the only game they lost—it was to Arkansas. And looking at the films, we noted they played a good ball game and actually led Arkansas 13-0 at one point."

Parseghian pointed to TCU's use of the Wishbone-T offense "with some added wrinkles," and said, "They execute it as well as anyone I have seen."

The Irish coach also noted that the TCU defense has given up only about 130 yards a game rushing.

Notre Dame speedster Eric Penick, a sophomore halfback, probably will be ready to play Saturday after missing the Missouri game with a shoulder injury. Wide receiver, Willie Townsend, out of the Irish lineup since spraining a knee against Michigan State, was an uncertain participant for Saturday.

TCU will challenge Notre Dame with the running of sophomore Mike Lattrell, who is averaging 109.4 yards per game. He has run for 547 yards and has thrown and completed four halfback passes. In fact, it was his pass with 1:40 remaining that gave the Frogs their victory over A&M.

Junior quarterback Perry Senn has taken over for the injured Kent Marshall. Senn has hit 14 of 28 passing attempts for 170 yards, while his Notre Dame counterpart, sophomore Tom Clements is 44 of 86 for 614 yards.

The Irish have nobody near Lattrell in rushing yardage, but Penick, senior halfback Darryl Dewan and senior fullback Andy Huff all have run for more than 200 yards, with Penick on top at 325 yards in 60 carries.

This will be the first meeting between the two schools. The kickoff is set for 1:30 p.m. (EST). The usual Notre Dame sellout crowd of 50,075 is expected.

Record fouls set in game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Officials cried "Foul" at the American Basketball Association game between the Virginia Squires and Denver Rockets.

And foul, foul and foul ...

By the time Thursday night's match was finished, a single-game record of 86 personal fouls had been set and the Squires had a 155-111 triumph.

That wasn't the only record set in the foul-punctuated match by a long shot.

Two of the records were set by the Rockets—56 personal fouls with seven players ejected. The Squires set records with 92 free throw attempts and 94 conversions.

The Squires used 44 of those charity points in a record-tying, 53-point fourth quarter to bury the visitors.

USC holds no. 1 rating

McKay's club runneth over

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

LOS ANGELES — (NEA) — This is the year of the progeny and the prodigy in college football. There are, among others, Tom Harmon's boy Mark at UCLA, Bobby Layne's boy Allen at TCU, Lou Groza's boy Jeff at Ashland College, and Whizzer White's boy Danny at Arizona State.

They all evoke memories of their football-playing fathers. So in a sense, does J. K. McKay of the University of Southern California, the No. 1 team in the nation.

Young J. K. is there for his father to see every day. John McKay, besides having been a generation ago, is the head coach of USC. J. K. McKay is a Trojan wide receiver of great talent.

After the precocious sophomore caught his first varsity pass again at Arkansas, Coach McKay was asked if he congratulated his son.

"No," he said, "I was too busy."

After J. K. hauled in his first touchdown pass, against Oregon, the coach was again asked if he made special note of it.

"No," he answered, "I've hired an extra guy to do that for me."

The father-and-son combination has effected a change in the life of Mrs. McKay sitting up in the stands.

"Now," she says, "I have to listen to them talk about that 'idiot' coach playing his 'idiot' son."

Actually, young J. K. is not even a starter for USC. That's no disgrace. In 23 years of watching college football, I've never seen a team with such depth and quality at the striking offensive positions — receiving, throwing and running.

Young J. K. logs virtually as much playing time as Edsel Garrison, who gave up a chance to be a speedster on the U.S. Olympic track team for the prestige of playing at USC (and preparing himself for a pro football career).

The Trojans come at you in waves. Against Stanford, they played three different tailbacks, and the third, a sophomore named Allen Carter, was every bit as good as the first, Lightning Rod McNelli, who's 6-2 and weighs 218, including a steel plate in his hip. While the second, another sophomore named Anthony Davis, was merely voted the player of the game.

They're just as deep at fullback, where starter Sam (Bam) Cunningham is a beautifully proportioned 225-pounder who's a cinch to be a No. 1 draft choice.

The starting wide receivers are Garrison, maybe the fastest man in the college game, and Lynn Swann, also rangy and swift and a great punt returner. Yet the most precise patterns are run by J. K. McKay, who's a replica of Raymond Berry or George Sauer in motion and holds on to the ball better than anyone on the team. He leads his team in receptions and touchdown passes.

The tight end, Charles Young, was a unanimous preseason All-American choice, a 6-4, 228-pound crusher.

For field generalship, to deploy this talent, McKay has Mike Rae, a strong-armed senior quarterback, and sophomore Pat Haden, who has just as much poise and can throw even better. Haden and J. K. McKay were a dual entry at USC from Bishop Amat High School in West Covina, Calif., and were the state's co-players of the year.

"The thing is," says Norb Hecker, the former pro coach who now handles Stanford's defense, "there's no drop in quality anywhere. They're really animals."

The assortment, including his own kid, has McKay so spoiled that when they scored only 30 points against Stanford, the defending Rose Bowl champs, the first time they had gone below 50 since penetrating Arkansas for 31 points in their season opener, McKay grumbled, "I was thoroughly displeased. We played as poorly as we could play."

It should have been a jocund moment. The man with the white mane, in his 13th year of professional tenure at USC, has a reputation for dispensing bon mots.

"I want to beat 'em," McKay grouched, "by 2,000 points."

It wasn't one of the more uplifting declamations in American sport.

Razorbacks favorites

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles knows better than to rub salt into an old wound.

In fact, he didn't even show the Razorbacks the film of their 35-15 loss to Texas last week.

"We're trying to think of the future and that just adds to the disappointment," he said. "This is a different game this week."

The Razorbacks play North Texas State University Saturday night at Little Rock and are heavy favorites. The Eagles are 6-4. Arkansas is 4-3, with losses to top-ranked Southern California and Texas.

"Teams like North Texas really get high for us," Broyles said. "Something I worry about all week is how we'll react. I know how they'll react. The mental part of a coaches' work begins when you're a favorite."

Broyles has said for years that the Razorbacks play two seasons—one that ends with Texas and the second that begins the week after the Longhorns.

"Regardless of what happens in the Texas game, this is the start of our second season," he said. "It's kind of been broken down that way for years."

The Razorbacks will start their "second season" with a new look.

Linebacker Bill Burns and Ed Rownd, free safety Tommy Harris, defensive end Ray Strain and offensive tackle Lee King will be starting for the first time Saturday and Jim Benton will be making his first start at linebacker this season.

Burns, Rownd and Benton are replacing Danny Rhodes, John Wheat and Scott Binion. Rhodes suffered a bruised knee against Texas and is expected back by next week. Wheat played against Texas although he had suffered a broken thumb the week before against Baylor. Binion injured a knee against Tulsa and the Razorbacks have opened with a five-man front and two linebackers since that time.

Harris earned a starting job with his play in the Texas game and Strain was moved up to the first team after Benton was switched to linebacker. Boorman replaces sophomore Lee King.

It is also likely that several other young players will get a chance against the Eagles.

Scott Bull, a fullback earlier in the season, has been moved to strong safety behind Mark Hollingsworth. Ivan Jordan, a freshman, figures to share time with Strain and Doug Yoder and Gary Capshaw will alternate with Lee Williams at the other defensive end.

"The young kids have pepped up practices," Broyles said. "They want a chance to play."

Last year, North Texas concentrated on rushing Arkansas quarterback Joe Ferguson and the Razorbacks were able to run the football.

"We don't really have any idea how they will play us, because we haven't seen them against a team like us," Broyles said. "All we have is last year's film and then try to be prepared for any eventualities."

Turnovers hurt the Eagles a great deal in their 60-21 loss to Arkansas last year and they have had similar problems this year.

In their first five games, the Eagles lost 16 fumbles and suffered 10 interceptions. Last week, in a 7-6 loss to Memphis State, the Mean Green lost one fumble and had one pass intercepted.

"We showed improvement last week but we still had breakdowns in our offensive execution at the wrong times," said North Texas Coach Rod Rust. "Defensively, it was one of our better efforts. This week will be no different than the others. We'll try to get in a good week's work and hope to keep improving."

Rick Shaw threw for more than 200 yards and three touchdowns in the first half against Arkansas last year, but Rust says his passing has been erratic. He may elect to start Phil Shotland, who has been plagued by injuries this year but played the final minute last week.

Charlie Johnson, who gained 96 yards on 23 carries against Memphis State, is the leading rusher with 331 yards on 80 attempts.

The kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m. CDT and a crowd of about 45,000 is expected.

Audit is requested

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Rep. B. D. Brandon of Little Rock, chairman of the Arkansas Legislative Council, suggested Thursday there should be a public audit of the Razorback Fund, an athletic fund at the University of Arkansas.

Fred Vorseanger, vice president for business affairs at the university, said the fund was subject to an internal audit by the university and agreed with Brandon that there should be a public audit. He said the university officially exercised no direct control over the fund.

Vorseanger said the fund had received about $400,000 under the university's recently instituted football ticket priority program to raise money for construction of athletic facilities. He said about $150,000 was earmarked for athletic scholarships and the rest for athletic facility improvements.

Robinson buried near Ebbets Field

NEW YORK (AP) — Jackie Robinson, a man remembered as much for his courage as his baseball ability, will be buried today before a large gathering of admirers.

Robinson, a black man who broke baseball's color line 35 years ago and played an important part on the old Brooklyn Dodgers championship team, died Tuesday of a heart attack at the age of 53.

The funeral cortege is scheduled to proceed through the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn, not far from the site of Ebbets Field, where Robinson attracted an army of fans.

He will be laid to rest at Cypress Hills cemetery following services at Riverside Memorial Church.

Robinson's body was placed on public view for eight hours Thursday before a long, unbroken line of mourners, mostly elderly persons.

"He was the first black man to break the color line in major league baseball," said an elderly woman, "and we should be very proud of him."

There were no flowers on the gray-blue metal coffin and none of the mourners was allowed to touch the bier. A middle-aged man tried to put a red carnation on the coffin, but was dissuaded by an attendant.

Today, Robinson will be laid to rest before dozens of former teammates, old friends and public officials including Sergeant Shriver, the Democratic Party candidate for Vice President in the November election.

Many of Robinson's teammates on those fine Dodgers teams will be pallbearers and honorary pallbearers. They include Dodger Manager Walt Alston, Joe Black, Jim Gilliam, Don Newcombe, Pee Wee Reese, Ralph Branca, Carl Erskine and Roy Campanella. Owner Walter O'Malley's son, Peter, will represent the club.

Others on hand will be Willie Mays, an opponent of Robinson's on the old New York Giants teams that provided a fierce, cross-town rival for the Dodgers in the 1950s. Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn also will attend the services along with former Commissioner Ford C. Frick.

Robinson's career was filled with bitter-sweet memories. Branch Rickey, then owner of the Dodger franchise, gave Robinson the chance to play major league baseball in 1947. And the Dodgers' new player had to keep mum while taking abuse from some of the fans, the opposing players and his teammates.

When taunted by racial remarks, Robinson reacted the best way he knew how—with a base hit. His average climbed and his field of admirers grew as the Brooklyn silent man took out his frustrations by playing hard and excelling in all facets of the game—hitting, fielding and baserunning.

Chicago dominates All-Star team

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's world championship belongs to Oakland but Chicago dominates the 1972 Associated Press All-Star team selected by writers and broadcasters across the country.

The champion A's failed to land any of the 10 first-team berths in the nationwide balloting but four players from Chicago—three from the National League Cubs and one from the American League White Sox—made the squad.

Slugging Dick Allen, the Sox' first baseman, headed the balloting with 407 votes, tops for any player this season. Allen, traded to the American League last winter, batted .308 with 37 home runs and 113 runs batted in.

The three Cubs chosen were outfielder Billy Williams, whose 37 homers matched Allen, third baseman Ron Santo and shortstop Don Kessinger.

Williams, who led National League batters with a .333 average and had 122 RBIs, polled 364 votes, second only to Allen's total.

Santo batted .302 with 17 homers for the Cubs, and Kessinger finished with a .274 average.

Joining Williams in the outfield were Houston's sensational young Cesar Cedeno and veteran "Pittsburgh" star Roberto Clements. Cedeno batted .320 with 22 homers and 82 RBIs for the Astros, while Clements, who reached the 3,000-hit plateau for his career, batted .312 for the Pirates.

Two Cincinnati players, catcher Johnny Bench and second baseman Joe Morgan, made the team. Bench bounced back from a poor season in 1971 and hit 40 homers while driving in 125 runs for the Reds. Morgan, acquired from Houston in a winter trade, scored 122 runs for the Reds, tops in the NL, and stole 58 bases while batting .292.

The two pitchers named were left-hander Steve Carlton of the Philadelphia Phillies and right-hander Gaylord Perry of the Cleveland Indians. Both had remarkable seasons with losing teams.

Carlton led the majors with 27 victories and had a 1.97 earned run average, pitching for the last-place Phillies. Perry was 24-16 with a 1.32 ERA for fifth-place Cleveland.

Why Pete Rose is the way he is

By INA BERKOW
NEA Sports Editor

OAKLAND — (NEA) — This is, says Pete Rose, why Pete Rose is the way he is:

When he was 10 years old in 1951 watching with his father a ball game on television, they saw Enos Slaughter run like a man being chased from the dug-out to his outfield position and back, run to first on a walk, barrel around the bases.

"That's the way you should play this game," said Pete Rose Sr. Junior hasn't stopped running since.

His father was a professional football player with the original Cincinnati Bengals 18 years ago. Rose Sr. was then a 42-year-old half-back. He was also the original Charley Hustle, and once agonizingly crawled downfield to make a tackle on a kickoff after his leg had been broken from a block.

"The whole family is that way, enthusiastic," said Rose, the Reds' leftfielder. "Including my wife. Did you see her in the stands during the playoffs? She kept standing and pulling up her sweater to show her Big Red Machine tee-shirt."

He lives his dream. "It seems like just a couple months ago that I was a kid, dreaming about playing for the Reds, my hometown team," he says. "Now I'm the Reds' all-time hit leader. Happened this season. It's hard to believe. The Reds, the oldest team in the history of professional baseball."

The baseball atmosphere refuels him. "I couldn't be any happier," he says. "Every time I walk into the clubhouse to put on my uniform it's a thrill. I don't know anything else except baseball." He leaves the impression that he is not interested in knowing much else.

He is an easy and loving talker, a man whose thoughts are not stereotyped. He is an intense worker who, if he weren't poking his head out of baseball dugouts, conceivably might be poking his head out from under a car he was repairing in a gas station.

And even the first two games of the World Series, in which he went one-for-nine, made him appear simply sanguine, not depressed. "The momentum is there somewhere," he said. "Just lost it for a second."

Rose continued to run all over the place. Some people have called his style of play—head first slides, running to first on walks—showboating.

"I've been doing it all my life," he said. "Besides, how do you average 194 hits a season and have a 10-year career average of .304 and be a showboat?"

It puzzles him why others don't employ, for example, his head-first slide.

"People call it a belly-whopper, but it isn't," he explains. He will roll up his sleeves and show you his red-raw forearms. "You land on these, not your belly. And say the infielder loses the ball. You see the play and you're ready to run. Slide on your side and you're looking up at the sky."

His concession to creeping middle age (he's 31) is during pregame warmup. He says he no longer runs around "like a chicken with his head cut off." He used to take infield balls at second base, fly after balls in the outfield, leap, run and bound at the slightest provocation. "Now I just make sure my arm is loose," he said.

He says he would like to play at least five or six more solid years and collect 3,000 hits (he now has nearly 2,000). "But I hesitate to predict how long I can play," he said. "I mean, my father was still going strong at 42. I have a young body like his. He was never sick a day in his life, until he died of a blood clot in the heart. He was 58."

"My dad died two months after we lost the World Series in 1970. And just the day before that I was shooting baskets with him in a gym."

Bruins lose Orr

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It was just one of those days for the Boston Bruins who had enough aggravation Thursday to last for a month.

First, the Bruins got word that superstar defenseman Bobby Orr would be lost indefinitely because of his ailing left knee. Then they went out to play Chicago and the Black Hawks showed no sympathy with a 6-3 thrumping that tumbled Boston eight points back of first place Montreal in the National Hockey League's East Division.

Unbeaten Montreal ripped St.
Louis 7-0 for goalie Ken Dryden's third shutout of the young season. In other games, Philadelphia handed Detroit its first loss of the season, 3-1, and Los Angeles defeated Atlanta 3-1.

In the World Hockey Association, New York rallied for a 7-6 victory over New England, and Quebec clipped Minnesota 5-4 and Houston whacked Ottawa 7-3.

The Stanley Cup champion
Bruins, depleted by WHA jumps and player losses to expansion teams, are off to a sluggish 3-4 start this season, and can hardly afford the extended loss of Orr.

Six different shooters connected for Chicago with Chico Maki's goal 21 seconds after the opening faceoff starting the barrage. Jim Pappin, Pat Stapleton, Bill White, Pat Martin and Stan Mikita had the other Black Hawk goals.

Phil Esposito scored twice for the Bruins, who had not lost at home to Chicago since January,

1970. Jacques Lemaire had two goals for the Canadiens, giving him 10 for the season and five in the last two games. He also picked up a pair of assists.

Bearded Bill Flett scored his seventh goal of the season with less than six minutes to play as Philadelphia ended Detroit's winning streak at six games.

Rookie Don Kozak's first NHL goal broke a tie early in the third period as Los Angeles downed Atlanta. It was the third straight victory for the Kings—their longest win string since 1970.

In the WHA, Wayne Rivers scored three goals for New York as the Raiders overtook
New England. The Whalers carried a 5-4 lead into the final period but goals by Rivers, Norm Ferguson and Mike
Lalinton rallied the Raiders.

Quebec got goals on four of five shots in the opening period and then held on to defeat Minnesota. Francois Lacombe, Yves Bergeron Andre Gaudet and Ken Desjardins scored the early Nordique goals.

Wayne Connolly scored twice for Minnesota.

Houston bunched five goals in the second period to roll over Ottawa as Gordon Labossiere, Murray Hall and Ted Taylor scored two goals apiece to lead the romp.

What are they going to do with all the discarded political planks littering Miami Beach?

WIN AT BRIDGE
Squeezes out a tough slam

is known as a trump-squeeze against him.

South cashes dummy's ace and king of clubs, leads a spade to his queen and leads to the ace and king of spades and a third trump from dummy. This trump squeezes East.

East has to come down to three cards. If he holds a singleton club, South over-takes dummy's trump, leads a third club and sets up his last club. If East comes down to one diamond South
lets dummy hold the trick, ruffs a diamond in his own hand and sets up dummy's last diamond as the 12th trick.

Lucky, but the sort of good luck only experts enjoy.

NEW YORK (AP) — New York's a two-team football town again with Norm Snead and the revamped Giants in a dead heat with Joe Namath and the Jets for Gotham's heart.

The Giants, winners of four straight, now face the biggest hurdle in their climb back to glory Sunday in a matchup against Washington with a shot at tying the "Skins" for the National Football Conference's East Division lead.

The guess is nice try, but the Giants won't win.

Washington is a 24-21 choice to outgun the rejuvenated Giants.

Washington's graybeard defense and a productive Giant offense should be a near-standoff, but Sonny Jurgensen and the Redskins' offense have an edge on a young New York secondary that sometimes makes juvenile mistakes.

A Washington victory would put added pressure on Dallas Monday night's television game against the Detroit Lions.
Washington, 5-1, is a game ahead of both Dallas and the Giants at 4-2.

Monday's prediction is for Roger Staubach to make a comeback at quarterback and spur the Cowboys to a bruising 24-20 decision over the Lions, coleaders with Green Bay at 4-2 in the NFC Central.

Here is a very tough hand.
The slam contract is good but the fairly simple play of ruffing two clubs in dummy won't work after the defense starts with two rounds of diamonds. South must ruff the second diamond high.

He plays two rounds of trumps and finds that West still holds a pesky eight-spot.
If he ruffs those two clubs
he won't be able to get back to his hand to pull West's last trump.

You can enjoy yourself working out why this play fails. Now see if you can work out how South can make the hand.

He has to be lucky. He must find East with four clubs so as to develop what

Committees fail to file statements

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two committees which have funneled large amounts of money into President Nixon's re-election campaign have failed to file registration statements in apparent violation of federal law.

Examination of hundreds of campaign financial reports pouring into the General Accounting Office also shows a $25,000 loan to Democratic Presidential candidate George McGovern from a secretary who refused to say how a secretary could afford such a loan or whether the money was hers.

The Republican Support Committee of Los Angeles loaned $161,500 to the California Finance Committee to Re-elect the President on Sept. 13, reports to the GAO show.

The Executive Club of the Republican Party of New Jersey is listed as contributing $57,000 in the Sept. 1 to Oct. 16 period to 20 Nixon committees on the state level.

Another $12,000 was contributed to four national Nixon committees during the same period by William B. Colsey III who lists the same Trenton, N. J., post office box as the Executive Club.

Neither registration statements nor reports of over-$100 contributors could be found for the Republican Support Committee or the Executive Club in GAO records going back to April 7 when a new election law requiring full campaign finance disclosure went into effect.

Under the new law any political committee which anticipates receiving or making contributions or loans exceeding $1,000 to a national candidate during the calendar year must register with the GAO within 90 days of organizing.

It also must report quarterly and on the 15th and 5th days before a primary or general election all expenditures, loans or contributions over $100.

Colsey, a Mt. Holly, N. J., lawyer, could not be reached by telephone. A New Jersey newspaper quoted Colsey last June as saying the Executive Club received contributions from business and professional leaders.

The address for the Republican Support Committee was listed as in care of Ann Call at 523 W. 6th St., Los Angeles. Call, who personally gave Nixon $10,000 earlier this year, is chairman of Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co., which is located at the same address.

Two telephone calls to his office, to ask about the absence of the club's registration or report, went unanswered.

On the McGovern side, a $25,000 loan was received by McGovern for President, Inc., of Washington from a San Francisco secretary who in two telephone interviews repeatedly refused to say whether the money was hers or how a secretary could afford such an outlay.

"I don't have to answer that," said Mrs. Dorcas Taylor. Later she said, "This isn't any of your business."

WOMAN CONVICTED

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mrs. Geraldine Inman of North Little Rock was convicted here Thursday in Circuit Court on a charge of pandering. The jury recommended a sentence of four years in the state prison.

When the trial opened Thursday, Chief Deputy Pros. Atty. Sandy McMath said the state would prove Mrs. Inman induced a 17-year-old girl to become and remain a prostitute last November.

The defense had contended that Mrs. Inman was innocent because the girl became a prostitute of her own free will.

By CHARLES BURTON

LITTLE ROCK—Arkansas deer hunters will be seeking their quarry under new regulations this year, and with the first hunt soon to open a review of the seasons and limits seems in order.

With the purchase of a regular resident Arkansas hunting license each hunter receives two deer tags. Hunters who participate in special hunts for which there is a five-dollar fee receive an extra tag which entitles them to a bonus deer. Therefore, the limit is two deer per year with the possibility of one bonus deer. The two-deer limit applies whether the hunter uses gun or bow, or both. Once the two tags are used the hunt is over.

How the tags can be filled during the gun hunts is where all the changes for 1972 come in and there seems to still be a little confusion on this point. The gun seasons will run Nov. 13-18 and Dec. 11-16 and legal bucks only may be taken during the first five days of each period. Legal bucks are defined as those having antlers four inches long or longer, or forked antlers of any length. On the Saturday of each hunting period, deer of either sex may be taken.

Hunters may take both deer to fill their tags at any time during the hunting periods this year except two antlerless deer (those other than legal bucks) may not be taken in the same day. What this means is any hunter with his heart set on two antlerless deer would have to take one the Saturday of the first hunt and one the Saturday of the second hunt. Otherwise, a hunter may take two legal bucks in one day or a legal buck one day and an antlerless deer on Saturday or a buck and a doe on one Saturday. There are many combinations but hunters must remember that two antlerless deer may not be taken in one day and once the two tags are used, whether on bucks or doe, that's it.

Speaking of deer tags, hunters should take special note of the wording printed on the tags that reads, "This tag must be attached to deer immediately." According to Enforcement Chief Bill Rice this means that immediately after the kill is made the tag must be securely attached to the deer. All the information required on the tag completed and, most important, the tag must be signed. Once the tag is properly filled out the deer may be field dressed, however, before it is skinned and butchered it must be taken to a check station or a Wildlife Officer in the zone or county where it was killed for checking. The tag must remain attached to the deer until it is taken to the hunters home or to a preservation facility, or until the meat is divided as camp is broken. If a deer is cut up and stored in a freezer in camp each package of meat must be plainly marked with the name and hunting license number of the hunter who took it.

Commission has announced special commercial fishing seasons on Lakes Conway, Nimrod and Greenlee. The dates all four lakes will be open are from Nov. 1, 1972 through Feb. 28, 1973, both dates inclusive; legal tackle will be 3/4 inch or larger for mesh gill and trammel nets only.

According to Fisheries Chief Bill Keith the purpose of the special commercial season is to allow the harvest of large commercial fish not normally taken by hook-and-line fishermen. Keith further stated that Lake Greenlee will have an added bonus for commercial fishermen in that it contains commercial size White Amur or Grass Carp. This will be the first opportunity for the harvest of this fish, which, according to Keith, has done its job of vegetation control in Lake Greenlee. Keith said commercial fishermen will not be able to harvest all the White Amur in Lake Greenlee and enough will be left in the lake to continue the vegetation control.

Nixon to meet with minister

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon meets with Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma of Laos today for his first direct discussion of the impending Indochina cease-fire with an embattled Southeast Asian leader likely to be a major beneficiary of the truce. The prince arranged an 11:30 a.m. meeting with secretary of State William P. Rogers before conferring at the White House later with Nixon and national security adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

Key questions for discussion are the effects of the cease-fire on the operation of the Ho Chi Minh trail and on North Vietnam's involvement in the Laos civil war by supplying troops and materiel.

The Ho Chi Minh trail, an elaborate network of supply routes running through Laos to Cambodia and South Vietnam, has been a major conduit for North Vietnamese troops and supplies for the southern fighting fronts over the past decade.

The United States also has been a major supporter of the Royal Lao government army and its Meo guerrilla troops led by Gen. Vang Pao.

Under the draft agreement between the United States and North Vietnam, the territory of Laos and Cambodia will not be used to encroach upon the territory of other countries.

IS PROMOTED

U.S. Army, Korea (AHTNC) Oct. 5—Edward L. Patterson, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Truel A. Hogue, 904 S. Walnut, Hope, Ark., recently was promoted to private First Class while serving with the 520th Maintenance Company in Korea.

Pvt. Patterson, a mechanic, entered the Army in March 1972 and completed basic training at Ft. Polk, La.

Price of beef declines little

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers paid less for beef last month because of a slide in cattle prices and the first dip in middleman markups since last June, the Agriculture Department said today.

72 seeing progress, Nixon says

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS On the heels of reports that an end of the Vietnam war is near, President Nixon says 1972 "is perhaps seeing more progress toward true peace than any time since World War II."

But Democratic challenger George McGovern greeted announcements of an imminent Vietnam settlement by asking that the President explain why it took "another four years to put an end to this tragic war."

Responding to statements from Hanoi of an agreement and from presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger that "peace is at hand," candidates had this to say:

—Nixon said he is confident the nation can succeed in obtaining "peace with honor and not peace with surrender. There are still some differences to be resolved. I believe they will be resolved."

—McGovern: "I hope that these reports of a peace settlement prove to be correct ... But the question that haunts my mind ... is this: Why, Mr. Nixon, did you take another four years to put an end to this tragic war?"

—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said he will make no further mention of Vietnam in his campaign speeches. "I don't want to put the administration in the position where some nuance in what I say will seem to conflict to what Henry Kissinger said."

—Democratic vice-presidential nominee Sargent Shriver: "The United States will realize that this has been done as an election maneuver. Anyone can see this effort now is part of the election ... They could have negotiated for peace four years ago, and they could have had peace."

While the Vietnam war disclosures captured the spotlight in the political news Thursday, there was a development in the area of campaign financing.

The chairman of Nixon's campaign committee acknowledged for the first time the existence of a special campaign fund but denied money from it was ever used to spy on or sabotage Democratic presidential hopefuls.

Clark MacGregor, chairman of the Committee for Re-election of the President, said in a TV interview that the fund was composed of money carried over from the 1968 presidential campaign and some additional money contributed in 1971. He said the money was used for "preliminary planning for the primary elections."

The Washington Post has reported that the fund contained as much as $700,000. The newspaper said the fund financed the break-in at Democratic national headquarters and also efforts to disrupt the campaigns of presidential contenders last spring and summer.

The September retail price of beef, a key indicator in the cost of living, was slightly less than $1.13 per pound on an all-cut basis, including hamburger as well as steak.

That was almost three cents less than in August and 4.4 cents cheaper than the record high in July. In August, however, the price spread—the markup—from cattlemen to consumers was a record 44.8 cents per pound.

Last month, according to a "market basket" report on U.S. farm-produced food, the middleman share for beef was 43.3 cents per pound, a decline of 3.3 per cent in a month.

Statistically, however, the middleman beef margin was 20.3 per cent more than last June and 14.9 per cent more than a year ago.

All grocery store foods averaged 0.1 per cent less in September but 5.6 per cent more than a year earlier.

Last week the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported take-home food in September rose 0.1 per cent from August. But USDA officials said their report covered only food produced on American farms and did not include imported items and sea-food products.

The BLS report also covers meat prices only for the first week in a month, while the USDA surveys beef and pork for the entire month.

Broken down further, the USDA report showed that of the average retail beef price of just over $1.13 per pound, the "farm value" was 69.6 cents in September, down from 71.0 in August and the summer peak of 77.5 last June and July when cattle prices were higher.

Farm value is not the price producers get for cattle, but it is their share of what consumers pay at retail stores.

New pastor for local church

Rev. Ralph N. Madison Jr. will be officially installed as minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Hope, Arkansas at 7 p.m. Sunday. The service will be held in the sanctuary of the Presbyterian Church.

A commission has been appointed by Ouachita Presbytery to install Rev. Madison as pastor of the local church.

Members of the commission are Dr. William H. Kryder, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Hot Springs; Rev. George Stewart, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Magnolia; Rev. John Martin, executive secretary of Ouachita Presbytery of Camden; Rev. John Martin, executive secretary of Ouachita Presbytery of Camden; Rev. Robert Hyatt, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Ashdown; Sterling Lacy of Magnolia, and James H. Pilkinton, Comer Boyett and Hamilton Hanegan, all of Hope.

All members and friends of the church are invited to attend the installation service for the new pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Madison and their four children have already moved to Hope from Garland, Tex., and are residing at 701 South Main St.

Trustees to resign

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Members of the Board of Trustees of the North Little Rock Police Pension and Relief Fund were asked to resign Thursday, and four of the five members said they would by Nov. 1.

Police Chief Reo Bowman said resignation was the "desire of the majority" of active and retired policemen.

The fifth member, City Treasurer Robert Digby would have to retire as city treasurer if he left the board, and he said he wanted time to think about it.

Billy Dean Starks, 35, has been charged with defrauding the fund's trustees of about $613,000 in cash and bonds. Starks is in custody in Miami, Fla.

The other trustees are Alderman Don W. Garrison, 44; Police Lt. Lawrence A. Williams, 48; Dr. George S. Napper, and Lloyd V. Cameron, 70.

"It is apparent that confidence has been lost in the pension plan and also the board members," a letter said that Bowman read asking for the members' resignations.

Underneath the falling leaves of autumn is the rake you left out last spring.

When you vote FOR Act 1, you won't cost anyone his job.

When Act 1 is passed this November, job and earnings protection for train crewmen will become Arkansas law.

Written into the Act itself is this guarantee: "No railroad employee who has seniority in train, engine or yard service on the effective date of this Act shall be discharged, laid off, furloughed or suffer a reduction in earnings by reason of this Act."

Anybody who tries to tell you differently is simply not telling the truth. Contracts between the United Transportation Union and railroad management providing job and earnings protection plus more generous benefits have also been signed.

Here's what will happen when Act 1 passes. No one will lose his job or be reduced in earnings. However, as men retire, are promoted or leave train service, then those jobs not required by the railroad or the union will not be refilled. This process will take about 10 years to reach its full fair-play effect.

Vote FOR Act 1 and let the union agreements go into effect.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Television: Some pros and cons

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I would like to have some information on the bad effects of watching TV by children who watch to the exclusion of play, homework, socializing and consequent truancy.

Dear Reader—I won't attempt to review all of the different comments that have been made about violence on TV and these problems, but I will say that continually watching TV to the exclusion of normal childhood play can lead to degeneration of the body's normal functions from physical inactivity. A study a few years ago showed that children who were irritable, chronically fatigued, with vague complaints, were found to be chronic TV watchers with very little exercise.

I studied the problem of inactivity in relation to the space program and the expected prolonged weightlessness problems. My colleagues and I learned that inactivity breeds low energy levels. In normal individuals it causes a decrease in the amount of muscle mass. There is a decrease in the formation of red blood cells and a loss of normal water from the body tissues. The heart and circulatory system become "deconditioned." The heart rate is rapid and lacks the normal strength and stamina for reasonable amounts of physical exercise. There are probably adverse metabolic effects as well.

Many TV programs are wonderful, educational experiences. Others are wholesome entertainment. But like other things, there is an optimal amount. The only solution is to turn off the TV at regular intervals and insist on a little more normal, human activity characteristic of growing children.

Dear Dr. Lamb—What would happen if a lung is punctured during a nerve block in the chest area? Would it heal eventually and, if so, how long would it take?

Dear Reader—The lungs are composed of multiple tiny air sacs. If one is punctured the lung behaves somewhat like an inner tube and collapses. Because it is composed of many small air sacs only a portion of those air sacs near the area where the puncture occurred may collapse. This varies depending on how big the tear is and other factors. How much trouble a person has depends on how much collapse of the lung occurs. If just a very small amount of collapse occurs, it may be almost unnoticeable.

The collapse will persist until the tear has healed over then, like an inner tube that has been patched, it can be inflated again and regains its normal function. If the tear is large and the lung is totally collapsed sometimes the normally functioning lung will expand to push against the heart and blood vessels to cause difficulties.

Some people have spontaneous collapse of a lung because a little blister on the surface of the lung bursts. These, too, usually heal spontaneously. Occasionally there is associated bleeding and this requires careful medical management.

Air trapped between the collapsed lung and the chest wall is gradually absorbed as the lung re-expands, however, during the time air is trapped in this space one should not travel by air or take a trip from sea level to altitude. The trapped air between the lung and chest wall will expand with decreased air pressure and can cause increased pressure inside the chest against the heart. This same problem used to arise regularly when air was injected between the lung and the chest wall to induce collapse in treating patients with tuberculosis.

LEGAL NOTICE

ORDINANCE NO. 800

AN ORDINANCE TO VACATE A CERTAIN ALLEY IN THE CITY OF HOPE, ARKANSAS; AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CITY OF HOPE, ARKANSAS:

Whereas, a petition was duly filed with the Board of Directors of the City of Hope, Arkansas, on the 14th day of September, 1972, asking the Board of Directors of the City of Hope, Arkansas, to vacate and abandon the South Half (54%) of the platted alley running through Block Eleven (11) between Lots Seven (7) and Four (4), Five (5), and Six (6), in Boswell's Extension of Block's Addition to the City of Hope, Hempstead County, Arkansas, as said alley now appears on the plat of said Addition on file in the Office of the Recorder within and for Hempstead County, Arkansas, and

Whereas, after due notice as required by law, the Board of Directors has, at the time and place mentioned in the Notice, heard all persons desiring to be heard on the question and has ascertained that the alley, or portion thereof, heretofore described, has been dedicated to public use as an alley herein described; has not been actually used by the public generally for a period of at least five (5) years subsequent to the filing of the plat, and in fact has never been used by the public; that the owner of the property abutting upon the portion of the alley to be vacated has filed with the Board of Directors and petition expressing their desire and consent to such abandonment; that the matter has been approved by the City Planning Board; and that the public interest and welfare will not be adversely affected by the abandonment of such alley.

Now, therefore, to be it ordained by the Board of Directors of the City of Hope, Arkansas:

Section 1: The City of Hope, Arkansas, hereby releases, vacates and abandons all of its rights, together with the rights of the public generally in and to the alley designated as follows:

The South Half (54%) of the platted alley running through Block Eleven (11) between Lots Seven (7) and Four (4), Five (5), and Six (6), in Boswell's Extension of Block's Addition to the City of Hope, Hempstead County, Arkansas, as said alley now appears on the plat of said Addition on file in the Office of the Recorder within and for Hempstead County, Arkansas.

Section 2: A copy of this ordinance duly certified by the City Clerk shall be filed in the Office of the Recorder of Hempstead County and recorded in the Deed Records of the County.

Section 3: This ordinance shall take effect and be in full force from and after its passage inasmuch as the public interest and welfare of the City of Hope, Arkansas, and of the inhabitants thereof, will be served by the adoption of this ordinance. An emergency is therefore declared to exist.

Sam W. Strong
Mayor

Adopted this 26th day of October, 1972, and published in the Hope Star this 27th day of October, 1972.

How dead can a tree get? But worse still, just how dead can a life become? Both must be cut down and cleared away. They are cumbersome obstructions to good. Here is a tree that is really dead, but there may be members of your church that are still dead. Maybe your church has members that are regular in attendance only at Easter and maybe Christmas? Some don't bother to attend at all. Yeah, these people want all the blessings of the church without having to attend or contribute to its program of service. They should be chopped down and swept away. God has very definite ways to eliminate the drones from the workers.... Why not turn over a new leaf — you may still have time.

THE CHURCHES AND SYNAGOGUES OF THIS COMMUNITY ARE THE ONLY INSTITUTIONS WHICH HAVE AS THEIR MAIN FUNCTION THE TRANSFORMING OF HUMAN LIVES. THEY ARE THE SIGN BOARDS POINTING THE WAY TO GOD.

Sponsors of these messages urge faithful church support. Through these pages the appeal is for men to stand up and be counted . . . to combat communism on all fronts . . . to be faithful to God.

OUR PASTORS AND RABBIS ARE GOD'S SERVANTS WHO CALL THE SIGNALS AGAINST THE ORGANIZED FORCES OF EVIL. THEY INVITE YOU TO ENLIST ON THE SIDE FOR GOD . . . TO ATTEND CHURCH OR SYNAGOGUE.

For The STRENGTH of YOUR LIFE WORSHIP in CHURCH this WEEK

HEARING POSTPONED

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A hearing for Billy D. Starks, 35, a former securities broker-dealer charged with defrauding the North Little Rock Police Pension and Relief Fund of about $613,000, was postponed Thursday until Monday.

The hearing was delayed after Richard Dunn, assistant federal public defender at Miami assigned to represent Starks, said he was not prepared because he had not had a chance to interview Starks.

People in the News

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedienne Lucille Ball, after a four-year absence from movies, is returning as the star of the musical "Mame."

Warner Bros. Studios said Thursday it will start shooting the movie in January with Miss Ball portraying the flamboyant "Auntie Mame," a role created in the nonmusical version by Rosalind Russell in the 1960s.

The film will be produced by Robert Fryer and James Cresson and directed by Gene Saks from a screenplay by Paul Zindel.

Miss Ball's last movie was "Yours, Mine and Ours" in 1968.

LEEDS, England (AP) — Princess Grace of Monaco went to a ball and met her onetime screen lover, Cary Grant.

"I'm delighted to see you again," the princess, former actress Grace Kelly, told the 68-year-old Grant Thursday night when they met at a Variety Club of Great Britain ball.

During her Hollywood days, the princess and Grant starred in the film "To Catch a Thief."

Before the ball, the 43-year-old princess and her husband, Prince Rainier, had visited a nearby hospital for handicapped children and gave out presents.

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Juan D. Peron's way has been cleared for the former dictator to return to Argentina from exile in Spain next month.

The government said Thursday night it has authorized the Italian airline Alitalia to fly Peron here Nov. 17.

Peron has said repeatedly he plans to return to Argentina prior to national elections scheduled for March, but he has never set a date.

Peron, now 77, was ousted by a coup in 1955 and has lived in Spain since 1960.

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — President Idi Amin is continuing to improve, but the government radio indicated Thursday night his release from the hospital is not imminent.

The Ugandan president was hospitalized on Monday suffering what was described as throat trouble.

BETHUNE ENDORSED

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — Ed Bethune of Searcy, Republican candidate for attorney general, has been endorsed for the office by the Searcy Jaycees.

The group sent letters to other Jaycee organizations in the state recommending that other Jaycee groups take similar action.

Just what stands for the parties

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Those ubiquitous symbols of American political life, the donkey and the elephant, may seem omnipresent during an election campaign, but they do a sudden fade-out on election day.

Entering the voting booth in one of the dozen or so states that use symbols on the ballot to identify political parties, the voter can expect to find a star, a rooster or even a plow identifying Democratic candidates, while Republican aspirants may appear under the banner of an eagle, an American flag or a log cabin.

Political symbols on the ballot date from the days when literacy requirements may have been less rigorously enforced. Although cartoonist Thomas Nast created the famous donkey and elephant, the two major parties' official symbols are quite different. The Democrats in 1852 adopted the star as the party's official symbol, and the Republicans followed two years later with the eagle. The reasons behind the two choices are unknown.

Whatever the eagle's significance, Republicans continue to use it as their symbol in seven states: Delaware, where it appears together with a star (!), New Hampshire, New York, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, West Virginia, and Utah, where it perches atop a beehive. A voter moving from one of these states to New Mexico, however, should take care. On the New Mexico ballot the eagle (with a shield) signifies Democratic candidates.

Usage of the star by the Democrats shows even less consistency. After 120 years only three states, New Hampshire, New York and Rhode Island, carry it on the ballot. In six others, Alabama, Kentucky, Louisiana (where it identifies all Democratic candidates except electors for the president and vice-president), Oklahoma, Utah and West Virginia, the Democratic symbol is a rooster.

All this confusion distresses at least one American voter, Walter P. Margulies, whose firm, Lippincott & Margulies, specializes in creating unique identifiers for the country's leading corporations (RCA, Xerox, U.S. Steel, etc.). To Margulies, the failure of the two major parties to use one symbol to identify their candidates is little short of ridiculous.

"Imagine what would happen," he says, "if a corporation advertised its products everywhere under one symbol and then used a different one at the point of sale. That's exactly what happens with political parties. They advertise their product — the candidates — throughout the campaign under one symbol and then use a different symbol on the ballot."

Margulies' firm has done research on political symbols and has discovered that only one voter in five can identify his party's symbol correctly. "We know," he explains, "that the visual image of a product or a corporation conveys a great deal about the product or the corporation."

People deduce certain qualities from appearance of the symbol or trademark. But our research into party symbols shows that they have no significance to voters at all."

What the U.S. needs, Margulies suggests, is more contemporary political symbols. "Voting shouldn't be an excursion in Americana," he urges. "Elections determine the future course of our country and the parties' symbols should reflect this." Since the star and the eagle have been the Democratic
